INTRODUCTION

Nova Classical Academy was started by a small group of parents who wanted access to a high quality education often found in private schools; the goal was to offer an academically rigorous curriculum with value placed on scholarship and individual excellence as well as self-discipline and virtues. Nova was the first public school to engage a classical education structure where students learn to think and reason from a solid foundation of knowledge and skills, and where parents, staff, and students all share a unity of purpose.

Mission Statement

In a supportive community and through a systematic, accelerated college-preparatory education in the classical tradition, Nova Classical Academy challenges its students to develop intellect, to attain the habits of learning and mastery, and to live a virtuous life of duty and ideals.

Educational Philosophy

Nova Classical Academy seeks to help develop young adults who possess the moral virtues of prudence, justice, fortitude, and temperance and the intellectual virtues of wisdom, understanding, and science as articulated in the western tradition in order that they may readily take up the responsibilities of adulthood.

GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT

Nova Classical Academy has a parent majority board. During the 2018-2019 School year Nova Classical Academy had 11 members on the Board of Directors – six parent members, three faculty members, and two community members. Although Adam Flood resigned at the end of April, his seat was not filled during the school year. The election in May 2019 resulted in the reelection of Becky Lund. Due to a lack of parents running for a board seat, Frank Ross and Divya Karan were appointed to 1-year parent seats for the 2019-2020 school year in June 2019. Due to a lack of community members running, Michele Pipitone was appointed to a 1-year community member seat for the 2019-2020 school year in June 2019. During the 2018-2019 school year, the board received training on Nova’s whole product, the board’s role in mission, development, fiduciary and financial responsibilities, and did a review of the strategic plan and goal development.

INNOVATIVE PRACTICES & IMPLEMENTATION

Charter schools were created to develop innovative educational practices, stabilize them, and pass those learnings on to mainstream schools for improvement. Nova continues in this tradition by building competence in our classical mission. In 2018-2019 this mission was advanced in two ways:

- Promote and support implementation of Data Driven Instruction in both the upper and lower school.
- Classical 101 training for all faculty during professional in-service time throughout the year. This year's theme is Rhetoric practice at the Grammar, Logic and Rhetoric Schools.
- Classical Education Certification: This program, created at Nova, trains new teachers in the strategies and philosophy of classical education. Nova's new teachers (for whom the full-year course is a requirement) attended a revised program which emphasized both technical elements of classical education as well as research-based components. The program meets twice per month all year for two-hour sessions at night.
